

EVA D'ONOFRIO

Born in 1962.

Independent Director of Banca Sella Holding since 2025, she's also Chairwoman of the Remuneration Committee and Member of the Risk Committee.

After completing High School, with a focus on classical subjects, she graduated full honors in Electrical Engineering at the Sapienza University in Rome.

In 1987, she joined IBM Italia, where she worked on projects for the public administration in roles of increasing responsibility, until becoming, in 2002, head of the consulting and projects unit in the Public Sector for southern Europe. From 2005 to 2009, she held various international positions at IBM's headquarters in Madrid, mainly in Global Technology Services. In 2010, she was appointed CEO and General Manager of Sistemi Informativi S.p.A., an IT company with over a thousand employees, wholly owned by IBM Italy. Her last position at IBM, after her experience at Sistemi Informativi, was Vice President of Global Technology Services in Italy. She joined Microsoft in 2014, where she has since held various international leadership roles in the Professional Services sector, culminating in her current position as Vice President of Proactive Services EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa).

In the Sella group, she held, from 2023 to 2025, the position of Director of Banca Sella; she is currently a Director of Centrico.
